

Owning the Footage

Filming every public appearance in full, and publishing the same day, so the clip that travels is yours.

STARTS SEPT
RUNS CONTINUOUSLY

WHY IT MATTERS

Four of the five most-watched clips of you speaking were uploaded by other accounts, reaching 216,300, 215,200, 186,300 and 149,800 views. Your own best post reached 80,500.

Those edits carry no context and were not cleared with anyone. Every controversy on record spread through a clip someone else cut. Owning the footage is the structural fix, not a statement after the fact.

WHAT GETS BUILT

- Full-length capture at every public appearance, with proper sound
- A four-hour turnaround from event to published clip, with context intact
- A YouTube archive of complete speeches, so journalists quote the whole thing
- A rapid-response capability for the moment something is taken out of context

VIEWS ON CLIPS OF YOU SPEAKING

Four of the top five are other people's uploads of your own footage, cut without context.

TIMELINE

Can begin immediately. Needs no film crew and no budget approval to start.

WHAT I NEED

Access to the diary far enough ahead to be there. Permission to film events that go badly as well as well.

EXECUTED BY

Me on the ground, with a field edit setup so publishing does not wait for an office.

DONE LOOKS LIKE

The next time a phrase of yours is clipped and circulated, the full version is already online with the date on it.
